BANGKOK, Thailand (Reuters)—The Bangkok Post today quoted Cambodia's Minister to Thailand as saying that 200,000 Chinese Communist troops are ready to invade Indo-China. The minister, representative of one of Indo-China's three states, claimed the Chinese troops were supporting Cambodian groups tied up with Ho Chi Minh, Communist Vietnam, leader.

Elizabeth And Philip Still Plan To Leave For Canada On Sept. 25

LONDON (AP)—Several London newspapers demanded today that the King's subjects be told more about his illness. A wave of concern swept the nation on the heels of a medical bulletin from the King's doctors reporting cryptically that "structural changes" have occurred in one of his lungs.

The King had no public engagements today but was reported to be up and around at Buckingham Palace. A small crowd milled outside throughout the day.

Lord Beaverbrook's Evening Standard declared in an editorial that "more specific information should be released as soon as possible" about what is wrong with the King.

"Rumor feeds on ignorance," said the Standard. "The British people all over the world should be told the facts."

The Evening Star said "It is

Hope For Early Bulletin

Little knots of early risers gathered at the gilt-spiked fence in front of Buckingham Palace. They hoped to get an early bulletin on the King's condition.

Nine doctors signed the bulletin, including a tuberculosis specialist.

A London lung specialist—not one of the nine examining the King—said "structural changes" can mean any of several lung diseases. He said the wording of the bulletin "suggests the doctors are not sure what is the whole trouble."

The Queen, Princess Elizabeth and her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, returned by plane last night from a vacation in Scotland. The Princess and the Duke had scheduled their return some time ago but the Queen had intended staying on at Balmoral Castle for several weeks.

The King himself went about his people's business last night. He had a 75-minute session with Prime Minister Clement Attlee in Buckingham Palace. Some believe the talk set the stage for a general election in October or November.

Most newspapers carried editorials wishing the King well. At least one, the Daily Mail, called for cancellation of the King's Australian trip in January if there is the slightest fear it might affect his health.

Many Britons scanned the list of nine doctors attending the King in an effort to guess the nature of the disease announced by the cryptic bulletin. Besides the tuberculosis specialist, the doctors include specialists in kidney and arterial diseases, pneu-

U.N. Troops Hurl Back Red Attacks

U.S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (AP)—Allied troops today hurled back two Communist smashes against a hard-won key peak on "Heart-break Ridge" in the rugged mountains of eastern Korea.

They won the commanding heights after a bitter fight that ended Tuesday midnight.

The north-south ridge is 35 miles inland from Korea's east coast.

The Eighth Army reported earlier that three major hills were captured Tuesday by Allied forces on the flaming eastern front. On one, 208 Reds were killed and 37 captured.

Red resistance Tuesday on the rest of the eastern front was moderate.

Allied forces have driven nearly 15 miles northward in a month of savage fighting against solidly dug-in Reds in the east.

Banked Allied troops on the west-central front threw two surprise attacks at the Reds Tuesday but were repulsed each time.

TRAIN STRIKE HITS ITALY

ROME (CP)—A 24-hour wage strike of 1,000,000 government employees today crippled train service on Italy's state-owned railways and affected mail, telephone and telegraph services.

The strike began at midnight. Large cities organized special bus services for commuters.

COALITION'S HEAVIEST GUNS

Thunder At By-Election Meetings

By GORDON FORBES

The Coalition Government's biggest guns thundered in the Esquimalt by-election campaign on behalf of Mayor Percy George Tuesday night.

Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb came booming into the fight at Shawnigan Lake with a sharp blast at the "hopeless and floundering Opposition" of the C.C.F.

Just back from his $35,000,000 loan-raising trip to New York the finance minister declared "The C.C.F. is the weakest opposition I have seen in 21 years in the Legislature. It is hopeless and flounders all over the place."

Mr. Anscomb, talking in his usual machine-gun manner, got by without any hecklers.

Meanwhile at Langford Community Hall Premier Byron Johnson drew a large friendly audience, but ran into a few obstreperous questioners, one of whom marched noisily out of the hall after a series of tiffs on hospital insurance. Mayor George spoke at both meetings.

All the C.C.F. can talk about is what is being done in Saskatchewan, Mr. Anscomb told his Shawnigan audience.

Johnson drew a large friendly audience, but ran into a few obstreperous questioners, one of whom marched noisily out of the hall after a series of tiffs on hospital insurance. Mayor George spoke at both meetings.

Attlee Government Calls General Election Oct. 25

Expect N.A.T.O. To Name 'Three Wise Men' Soon

May Represent U.S., Britain And France

OTTAWA (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today he expects the North Atlantic Council will agree today to name a trouble-shooting group of diplomats to direct the drive to close the gaps in the defenses of the western powers.

He told a press conference the 32 cabinet ministers attending the council refer to the committee as "the wise men," indicating it may consist of representatives of the big three—the U.S., U.K. and France.

Its job, he said, would be to analyze defense needs and to negotiate with the member countries for the meeting of those needs through increases or changes in present commitments.

WOULD PAVE WAY COPENHAGEN (AP)—Informed political sources said today Denmark has agreed to admission of Turkey and Greece to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

This would pave the way for admission of those two countries into the Atlantic alliance.

The United States is pushing for admission of Turkey and Greece, and the proposal is under discussion at the current N.A.T.O. meeting in Ottawa.

Denmark and Norway had with-held approval.

U.N. Agrees For Liaison Team To Meet With Reds

TOKYO (AP)—The United Nations command tonight agreed to a Communist request to send a liaison team tomorrow to the Kaesong neutral zone, site of the suspended Korean armistice talks.

The Reds made the request shortly after the U.N. command announced that four unarmed South Korean soldiers Tuesday mistakenly entered the neutral zone.

The request for a meeting raised speculation that the Communists may want to discuss resumption of the stalled talks, or may want to lodge another charge of Allied violation of the neutral zone.

The Communists broke off the talks Aug. 23, charging that an Allied plane tried to murder Communist armistice negotiators with strafing fire in the zone the night before.

The Reds asked for a meeting with Allied liaison officers at Panmunjom, Communist outpost near the edge of the neutral zone, at 6 a.m. Thursday.

RED 20 HOURS Brig-Gen. Frank A. Allen, chief of information at general headquarters, said U.N. liaison officers, accompanied by three correspondents, will meet with the Reds.

The South Koreans who wandered into the neutral zone by mistake Tuesday were held by the Communists 20 hours, then freed, a U.N. command release said.

The U.N. command said the four members of an anti-epidemic unit, were "armed with nothing more dangerous than DDT."

Investigation on the Communist complaint, the command said, "took place without incident and in an atmosphere almost completely devoid of tension."

Johnson

He said Saskatchewan pays a $2.50 per month bonus to old age pensioners compared to British Columbia's $10.

"If everything is so good under Socialism why doesn't Saskatchewan pay $12.50," Mr. Anscomb asked. "People are pouring into British Columbia to get such benefits. They show a lot of brains."

This province has budgeted for 32,600 old age pensioners and Saskatchewan only 14,000, according to the speaker. He said he is opposed to the plan whereby a person only has to live in British Columbia 18 months and one day to be eligible for the pension.

LIKES TAX "They say Anscomb is against social security. I am not. The 3 per cent social security and municipal aid tax is called the Anscomb tax. I love that. It shows I'm doing something for these people."

Mayor George reviewed his 21 years of experience in civic affairs, and said he identified himself with the Coalition Government because it has done something for British Columbia.

MILK PRICE PROBE OCT. 4

VANCOUVER (CP)—Public inquiry into the price and distribution of milk will be held here Oct. 4, E. C. Carr, chairman of the milk board, announced today.

He said the board is calling the inquiry "in view of the unsettled conditions in the fluid milk industry."

Wind Shift Halts Fire At Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP)—A shift in the wind today halted the advance of a mountain forest fire which threatened suburban Nanaimo homes.

Two hundred residents of suburban Harewood watched the flames high atop Mount Benson throughout the night. The flames rolled down the mountainside, and preparations were made for evacuation of homes.

Shortly after dawn the wind changed its course, and moved up Mount Benson in the face of the fire.

A reserve army camp and Indian hospital were in the path of the fire during the night.

Army crews, including five officers and 100 men from Victoria, stood guard at the grass-surrounded army camp.

In the fire zone, 500 men battled to halt the flames and to protect Nanaimo's water supply. The fire at one point was only 2 1/2 miles from the main reservoir.

Flames topped the saddle of Mount Benson last night and were visible for 30 miles as trees exploded into a flaming mass of fire.

Dissolve Parliament Oct. 5; Stock Market Enjoys Flurry

From CP and Reuters Dispatches

Britain is to elect a new parliament Oct. 25, it was officially announced tonight. Prime Minister Attlee gave the news in a country-wide broadcast over the BBC.

Attlee was risking his Labor regime at the polls at a time when Winston Churchill's Conservatives have apparently been gaining ground with the British public.

Many political observers have been predicting Churchill's party would return to power.

Attlee said parliament will be dissolved Oct. 5 and the election will follow Oct. 25.

With the worst winter since 1947 in prospect for Britain, the Attlee decision appeared to be a difficult one. But some Labor party leaders believe living costs and conditions generally will be easier this fall than next spring.

STOCK MARKET RALLY

Reports the election was in the offing spurred buying on the London stock market. Most sections of the domestic list tallied strongly, obviously in the hope that the government's freeze of dividends would not become law. British government bonds went down fractions all along the line as investors pulled out their money to get aboard a mild stock boom.

Attlee's visit Tuesday night to ailing King George was taken as a sign that he was about ready to call for an election.

Attlee presided at a cabinet meeting today. Although half the cabinet ministers are out of the country or away on business or vacation, it seemed likely that election plans were discussed.

Labour came to power in 1945, with a big majority over Churchill's Conservatives. They retained the power at national elections in February, 1950, with a smaller margin. The Labor edge over their opponents in the House of Commons is so small that the government often has faced critical tests of confidence in a constant attack by the Conservatives. At present Labor's effective majority is six.

INTERNAL PROBLEMS Attlee could have decided to try to hang on for the full five-year period allotted British governments, or until February, 1955, but he would be forced to call an election at a time he might not want if the Conservatives succeeded in overthrowing him by a non-confidence vote.

The Labor government is having internal worries, too, with a split on rearmament policies and even on domestic issues.

Parliament is at present adjourned for summer recess.

Search Party Climbs Hkusam To Wreckage

An R.C.A.F. ground party from Vancouver today struggled up a steep Vancouver Island mountainside toward the wreckage of a plane spotted earlier from the air.

The wreckage is believed that of a U.S. Navy Neptune patrol bomber. One plane of this type vanished over the northern end of the island in November, 1948.

Another disappeared last December on a flight from its northern Washington base. The first carried nine men, the latter eleven.

A small tent, apparently made of fabric ripped from the crashed plane's fuselage, indicated at least one man had survived the crash.

No bodies could be seen from the air. The ground party said it expected to reach the scene late this afternoon on the northeast coast of the island. The wreckage was spotted Saturday on the 4,000-foot level of 5,642-foot Mt. Hkusam overlooking Johnston Straits.

Other planes sent out to investigate at first reported it was abandoned logging machinery. Another check established that the wreckage was that of a plane. The tail assembly was still intact.

There was no indication as yet as to what became of any survivors. Apparently they perished in the forest. The country is mountainous and uninhabited.

Two Boys Trapped In Interior Fire

GRAND FORKS (CP)—Trapped in a second story bedroom, two boys were burned to death here Tuesday in a fire of mysterious origin.

Dead are Wally Verigin, 11, and his stepbrother, Jack Fasting, seven, sons of Mrs. Amon Fasting.

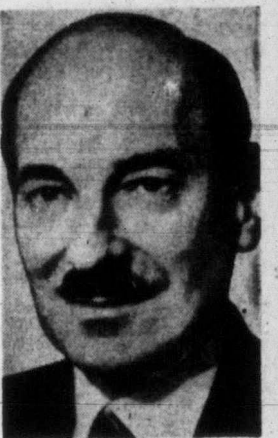

R.C.M.P. today opened an investigation of the fire which destroyed the house located in the Doukhobor colony. The police reported they have no clues as to the origin of the fire.

The new timing, in experimental operation for several days, provides additional seconds on both the green and red light.

Trial Error May Save Man From Gallows

A Prince Rupert sheriff who allowed a jury too much freedom of movement may be responsible for a new trial for Harold Ryan, who is appealing a murder conviction in Appeal Court today.

Ryan, a fisherman, is scheduled to be hanged Dec. 2 for the brutal slaying of his common-law wife, Lorraine Tait, at Port Simpson last December. He was tried at Prince Rupert before Mr. Justice A. D. Macfarlane of Victoria.

Ryan's main ground for appeal is that the sheriff allowed some of the jurors to come into contact with the public, to telephone their families, and to go to a movie. The law forbids jurors chosen for a murder trial to come in close contact with the public or to read any material dealing with the case before the court.

T. W. Brown of Prince Rupert is counsel for Ryan in Appeal Court. The Crown is represented by Gilbert Hogg.

Change Timing Of Downtown Stop Lights

Timing of traffic signals on Douglas Street has been changed with the complete redesigning of the street traffic-flow plan to provide for 20-mile-per-hour coordination, instead of the previous 17 1/2, it was learned today from the street lighting department.

The new timing provides for a 17-second through band, compared with the former 10-second through band. Cars entering Douglas at Fisgard in the first 17 seconds can proceed continuously through Douglas at 20 m.p.h.

The new timing, in experimental operation for several days, provides additional seconds on both the green and red light.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

PRELATE TO PRESIDENT?

WITH the approach of the presidential election year in the great republic to the south of us, it is only to be expected that candidates are appearing in force on the political horizon. And, in the United States—as in Canada and no doubt in other democracies, too—the roster of potential heads of government wouldn't be complete without one or two unusual aspirants.

For, as long as I remember, most presidential elections have brought forth their quota of little-known and sometimes strange figures who base their qualifications for the occupancy of the White House on the oddest reasons. And, judging by the oblivion into which most of them disappear long before the great day comes, the electorate evidently thought their reasons odd, too.

BASED ON BIBLE

SO it was with more than ordinary interest that I learned of a bishop who is now on a nation-wide tour of the United States, waging a campaign which he hopes will make him the immediate successor to Mr. Truman. His decision to run for President is based on the Bible, particularly this "prediction" in the Book of Daniel:

"The kingdom and dominion and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven shall be given to the people of the saints of the most high."

GENERAL OVERSEER

THE BISHOP is described in a New York news item as "general overseer of the Church of God, a denomination founded in North Carolina in 1903 by his father, the late Bishop A. J. Tomlinson."

And his conviction that he is called upon to lead the United States at this juncture of its affairs is conveyed to those whom he meets on his cross-country journey by a three-by-six-foot banner on his sedan reading:

"Choose a man of God for United States President in 1952. Thy kingdom come, Thy will be done on earth."

THREE WEEKS' FAST

PRIOR to the opening of his campaign tour through 42 states the would-be President went on a fast to prepare him for his undertaking. He claimed to have partaken of no solid food, but to have lived on water, orange juice, tea and black coffee, without sugar.

I don't know what weight that abstinence will have on his election campaign, but its immediate effect has been to reduce his material poundage from 182 to 175. And if the effect of his tour on a man of his calling is anything like the effect of presidential campaigns on other candidates in the past, then I wouldn't be surprised to hear that he loses much more before it is over.

PURE POLITICIANS?

A LONG-DEAD cynic once propounded an epigram to the effect that the purification of politics is an irreducible dream. But the ecclesiastical aspirant seems to think it is possible, for one of his planks is to call upon "men of God to fill every political office in 1952—from policeman to President."

If the recent revelations of corruption that startled millions of TV audiences in the neighboring country are any criterion, such a platform is likely to be greeted in the spirit of Artemus Ward's pronouncement: "My politicks, like my religion, is of an exceedin' accommodatin' character."

SOUND IDEA

BUT while, frankly, I don't think that bishop has a chance of getting to first base in the presidential game in these days of deflated morals and questionable ethics, it seems to me his idea is a sound one in principle.

For all too long there has been a tendency in some quarters to divorce politics from religion, in Canada as well as the United States. So any sign of an awakening to a consciousness that these two great forces cannot be entirely segregated from one another, if church and government are to fulfill their respective responsibilities, is all to the good, in my opinion.

Saturday Rites For Member Of Early Family

Funeral services for Mrs. Fannie Moore, 92, who died Tuesday in Victoria, will be held Saturday at 1:30 p.m. in Hayward's (R.C.) Funeral Chapel. Interment will follow in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

One of the first white children born on Vancouver Island, Mrs. Moore was the daughter of the pioneer Williams family and was born on the Williams' Royal Oak farm. Her father, Edward Austin Williams, came to the Island from Kent, England, in 1853.

She was married to John W. Moore, an early employee of the C.P.R., and made her home for many years in the residence which still stands on Chambers Street.

She is survived by an older sister, Mrs. J. W. Morley of Victoria, who is 94.

New courses this year are: Driver education, effective living for adults, art, sculpture and archery.

Other courses include dress-making, public speaking, journalism, horticulture, English for new Canadians, boat building, carpentry and millinery.

Citizens Learn Of Social Labor

Spencerhouse Thrown Open To Guests To Assist City's 'Red Feather' Drive

Hundreds of Victoria citizens today took the "Red Feather" tour of Spencerhouse, when doors were thrown open afternoon and evening to allow the public to view the volunteer welfare agencies and learn of their activities.

Spencerhouse was open from 2 to 5 this afternoon and will be open again from 7 to 10 tonight.

"It is every citizen's responsibility to know what work the volunteer welfare organizations are doing in the community," said Keith MacDonald, public health educator.

Following are the agencies accommodated in Spencerhouse: Family and Children's Service, V.O.N., John Howard Society, Social Service Index, Community Chest and Community Welfare Council.

Invited guests included Lt. Gov. Clarence Wallace, Premier Byron Johnson and Mayor Percy George.

"All too few people know about the operation of these worthy welfare organizations," said Mayor George, who attended with Mrs. George.

Family and Children's Service is concerned with placing children in foster homes, giving help to unmarried mothers, preparation of social histories for juvenile court and operation of sunshine camp. The service, formerly known as the Children's Aid Society, is celebrating its 50th anniversary this year.

NURSES' STORY
Nurses of the V.O.N. will tell visitors of their bedside nursing service for the chronically ill and parentcraft classes, which are among their activities.

Offering guidance to men released from jails and prisons is the John Howard Society. The Social Service Index prevents overlapping and duplication of the efforts of social agencies. Castle Urged As Museum For Tourists

"There aren't enough attractions in Victoria to keep tourists here much more than one day," said local hotelier Sam Lane when he suggested to the Victoria Tourist Trade Group yesterday that Craigdarroch Castle should be turned into a museum.

Mr. Lane's idea was that the pretentious early century home of the Dunsmuir family should be converted into a period piece which would tell the story of early Victoria and would be a resting place for many of the local items of interest that are stored away in the provincial archives for lack of exhibition space. He thought local families would be glad to give furniture and fittings of the early 1900's to furnish the castle in the authentic style of the period.

"The tally-hos and other sight-seeing vehicles include Craigdarroch Castle on their itinerary," said Mr. Lane. "The Americans are thrilled with the place, but unless they are lucky enough to know somebody they have to admire from afar."

IDEA HITS SNAG
Geoffrey Edgelow, chairman of the Tourist Group, told Mr. Lane that the idea was a good one but there was the snag that the school board used the castle as their offices.

The meeting liked the idea and agreed to form a committee under Mr. Lane's chairmanship to find if the school board could spare part of the castle.

"In hospitals there is a growing tendency for dangerous and potent drugs to be distributed by nurses and others not competent," F. H. Fullerton, manager of the association, said.

He charged the government is enforcing the Pharmacy Act in respect to civilian stores, but condoning violation of two federal and one provincial statute by small hospitals.

He also charged that small hospitals are making a profit on B.C.H.S. by refusing to pay for patients' prescriptions.

City's Third Victim Died Here

When old-model truck overturned and struck a pole Tuesday afternoon on Johnson Street, near Victoria West Park, Gavin Sinclair, 28, was instantly killed.

He was third fatality in Victoria city traffic accidents this year, the twelfth in the Greater Victoria area. Two of his three passengers were injured.

Driver's Skull Crushed When Truck Turns Over

Victoria's third traffic fatality of the year occurred late Tuesday afternoon when Gavin Sinclair, 28, 550 Johnson Street, was driving a truck which went out of control and crashed over on its side on Johnson Street Extension.

It was the 12th death on Victoria and district highways this year.

Sinclair, adopted son of Douglas G. Sinclair, laborer for Gillie Bros., Contractors, Port Coquitlam, B.C., was the driver of the old model panel truck in which passenger Chu Kam, 35, of 515 Cormorant Street, suffered minor hurts.

Two other passengers, Mrs.

Margaret Patrick, 37, Ontario Street, and her husband, Frank, were uninjured.

Eye-witnesses told police that the truck was proceeding east. On approaching the turn by the E. & N. Roundhouse, it swerved into the curb and rolled over on its left side, the front end against a telephone pole.

Sinclair's skull was crushed. Police said Chu and Mrs. Patrick were in the front seat with the driver. Patrick was sitting on a pile of junk in the rear. The Chinese was treated for cuts.

First Aid Training

B.C. school children will be given basic training in first aid and air raid precautions in courses to start Oct. 1, according to Dr. T. H. Patterson of the provincial health department.

A basic manual is being prepared in Ottawa and will be supplemented by an outline of instructions for the schools. The manual will likely be a simplification of the St. John Ambulance text, Dr. Patterson said.

Ottawa Tightens Up Controls For Industrial Use Of Copper

OTTAWA (CP)—The defense production department took steps today to tighten control over the use of copper and also gave industry a concession on inventories of two forms of copper—wire and wire rod.

Under an order effective Oct. 1, permission of the department must be obtained on orders for copper wire and cable placed with wholesale distributors as well as those placed with manufacturers. To make government controls more practicable, industry will be allowed to build up 60 days' supply of copper wire and wire rod. The previous limit was 45 days.

Speaking For Smaller Powers

EARLY IN THE DEBATES OF THE United Nations Canada assumed a position among the leaders of the so-called middle nations. Her influence became apparent in behalf of those countries lacking the strength of the great powers. That influence was beneficial. Through Canada's voice opinion was expressed in a way to bring attention to points which otherwise might have been overlooked.

As discussions continue among Atlantic Pact partners in Ottawa, this country is again speaking for the less powerful peoples represented at that gathering. Very properly Canada is asking that their views be considered before policy decisions are reached.

This country is strategically suited for the position she is adopting. Throughout recent history Canada has played a vital part in improving understanding between Britain and the United States.

The senior overseas partner of the former and the closest, and most amicable neighbor of the latter, her words have counted in the assessment each of the two great Anglo-Saxon powers have formed of the other.

Beyond that, Canadian contributions to international debate have stood on their own merits. Competent representation should accompany an election campaign. In the current contest in Esquimalt ample opportunity has been afforded residents to make known their grievances and the hospital insurance plan has been a broad target for complaint.

That still does not justify the outlandish license claimed by one heckler at View Royal this week for his statement that the two main hospitals in Victoria were not fit for human beings. Both of this city's chief hospitals enjoy approval from the foremost authority on the continent, the American College of Surgeons. Countless released patients can testify to the excellent treatment they have received and the high standard of equipment used in caring for them.

With Malice Toward Some

IT SEEMS INEVITABLE THAT WOULD talk should accompany an election campaign. In the current contest in Esquimalt ample opportunity has been afforded residents to make known their grievances and the hospital insurance plan has been a broad target for complaint.

That still does not justify the outlandish license claimed by one heckler at View Royal this week for his statement that the two main hospitals in Victoria were not fit for human beings. Countless released patients can testify to the excellent treatment they have received and the high standard of equipment used in caring for them.

Into A New Century

NEWSROOMS THE WORLD OVER this week noted the 100th anniversary of the founding of the New York Times. The turbulence of the second half of the great newspaper's century has seen no diminution of its high ideals of journalism. The slogan "all the news that's fit to print" continues to be its guide, and it has been well followed.

The New York Times has held aloof from many of the 20th century developments of the trade. It carries no comics or fiction, it eschews headlines of the "scare" variety. And unlike most papers of large circulation, it makes a point of carrying full texts of important speeches and reports. For this reason it is known as a newspaper of record and is favored by libraries, students and others interested in verbatim accounts of current history in the making.

It is not by accident that The Times has set a standard of accuracy and fair reporting, nor that its editorial page is respected for its studious approach to problems of the day. But with a daily circulation of slightly more than half a million, and a Sunday circulation of twice that, this journal is far from being the world's largest in distribution. Its weekend editions, however, weighing about four pounds, may enter a good claim as the largest in bulk. The quantity does not displace quality. New York Times book reviews are among the most quoted; the paper's magazine features and world review are read by students everywhere.

Founded in an era of violently personal journalism, The Times' publisher set as his purpose "to ally, rather than excite, agitation." As far as dispassionate reports, authoritative commentary and calm judgments can achieve that goal, The Times is still carrying out its mandate, and in a period when such qualities are more needed than ever before.

Health Unto His Majesty

THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMONWEALTH, and his admirers in many other lands, will have learned with concern of the latest reports on the health of the King. Couched in deliberately unrevealing terms, the physicians' announcement may be read in several ways. It may indicate a temporary ailment of no great moment. It may, on the other hand, cloak knowledge of a much more serious illness enforcing on His Majesty a prolonged rest from official duties.

It is not long since the people waited anxiously for a favorable medical report on the progress of treatment for the King's leg ailment. That affliction

A Positive Program

SOME OF THE PREPARATIONS made for military or civilian defense can be of value only if the emergencies of war occur. They are precautions against possible disaster which may never take place, but for which we must be ready.

On the other hand, some of the civil defense efforts will have definite practical value in everyday life. Among them is the program scheduled to start next month under which school children will be taught first aid. It takes only a small peacetime accident to prove the merit of such training. A child in difficulties in deep water may be saved

The Disenchanted Duke

THE SYSTEMATIC DISENCHANTMENT of this age goes pretty far when we are asked to believe that the Duke of Wellington never said, "The Battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton."

Until recently no one questioned that historic remark, but the present Duke of Wellington, seventh of that illustrious line, apparently is a sceptical historian. The other day he offered $50 for the earliest mention of his ancestor's famous phrase.

The present duke received a flood of letters from which it appeared that Count Charles de Montalembert first quoted Wellington on Waterloo in a book written three years after the Iron Duke's death. In de Montalembert's version, the duke returned to Eton in his old age and remarked: "It was here that the battle of Waterloo was won."

This, it will be seen, lacks the flavor of the usual version. There is no mention of playing fields, nothing to encourage the young men of England in tatives at world meetings have spoken their views with a logic that could not be ignored.

In spite of this, there has been an inclination in parts of the United States to assume that Canada will "go along with the U.S." to a degree which has brought editorial warning from some of our neighbors' more important newspapers. Two or three months ago the Wall Street Journal brought the question to public notice in an entirely friendly bit of satire reminding the United States of the presumptuousness of this too general attitude. Earlier the New York Times had dealt with the same subject—the predisposition to assume that Canada could be counted upon to follow.

This nation's industrial power, the importance of its partnership in the free world and its essential democracy give it the right to speak its mind, and spoken it will be.

For that reason the stand Canada has taken in respect to the Ottawa discussions should claim attention. Canada is using the tongue of democracy when she calls for consideration of the views of smaller partners. That is the position every self-respecting Canadian would have her take.

Neither presumes perfection. Such institutions are subject to human error. Moreover, with costs as they are, hospital budgets cannot stretch to cover every desirable facility.

The potential voter is allowed wide latitude in his remarks at an election meeting. Obviously some of those remarks are foolish in the extreme and often reflect little regard for good taste. At the same time public opinion will be deeply affronted when attacks are launched against agencies which do as much to relieve suffering, heal the ailing, and maintain standards, as do our two hospitals.

Somewhere in an election campaign there is a dividing line between good, lusty fun or honest criticism and malicious intent to injure innocent bystanders.

Neither presumes perfection. Such institutions are subject to human error. Moreover, with costs as they are, hospital budgets cannot stretch to cover every desirable facility.

The potential voter is allowed wide latitude in his remarks at an election meeting. Obviously some of those remarks are foolish in the extreme and often reflect little regard for good taste. At the same time public opinion will be deeply affronted when attacks are launched against agencies which do as much to relieve suffering, heal the ailing, and maintain standards, as do our two hospitals.

It appears now to have been successfully combatted. Whether the latest trouble is of as serious a nature has not yet been made clear. It is to be expected that rumors will now fly in the wake of the ambiguous report of the specialists, but it is hoped that a clarifying statement will soon be forthcoming.

In the meantime the hopes and best wishes of millions will be directed to the monarch, whose daughter and heirless shortly will be our guest. It is a tribute to his life and person that those wishes are of a widespread and sincere nature perhaps unprecedented in history, with the possible exception of the acclaim extended to his late father.

through a by-stander's knowledge of rescue procedure and artificial respiration. A youngster or an adult may avoid serious injury or even death from a commonplace mishap on the highway, on the playing field, on the picnic grounds or in the woods, by simple application of first aid practices.

This is practical knowledge of high value—a type of training which has been conducted by the St. John Ambulance groups, the Red Cross, the Boy Scouts and similar agencies. As it is spread over a wider population of school children general benefits will accrue. Here is a positive program to support.

manly sports. The duke's rousing tribute to athletics waders into a pallid graduation address.

The present duke doesn't even believe that much. In a letter to The Times of London he says he doubts that his forebear ever said anything about Eton at all. At Eton the career of the Iron Duke, says the present duke, was "short and inglorious" and there is nothing to show that he ever liked organized games, apart from the great game of war.

But it doesn't really matter. It will take more than the seventh Duke of Wellington to destroy the legends of the first. The remark about the playing fields of Eton no doubt will last as long as British history is written. It is one of those phrases which, whether uttered or not, should have been uttered and therefore will be believed because essentially it is true.

If not on the playing fields of Eton certainly on the village cricket greens and football fields not only Waterloo but many greater victories were won, many of them in our time.

France's Army Still A Factor

By STEWART ALSOP

Note: With a regular French officer, with whom he paraded to the French Resistance during the war, acting as his guide, Stewart Alsop has been living with a number of French units, in order to report on the real quality of the French Army.

ON MANOEUVRES with a French Division in Normandy: The countryside is gently rolling, pretty and peaceful as only the much fought over French countryside can be. Two Sherman tanks clatter noisily toward a small bridge. A couple of platoons of sweaty but cheerful French soldiers, clutching B.A.R.'s and American light machine guns, make their way through a copse toward the bridge, while a French officer, dressed in an odd compromise between British and American battle dress, shouts orders at them. There is a little pop on the bridge, and a puff of smoke.

THIS, it seems, is a direct artillery hit. An umpire rules that the two platoons are knocked out—for ten minutes. Immediately there begins the happy bedlam which characterizes the French Army when it is not at work. (Whatever else it is, this army is surely the gayest in the world.) Meanwhile, an obvious question presents itself to the mind of the American observer. Is this a real army he is watching on manoeuvres? Or is it a sort of elaborate masquerade, as fake as the simulated artillery fire?

The question is a deadly serious one, for Americans almost as much as for Frenchmen. If the French Army is a fake, then the American concept of the defense of the West is squarely based on a fallacy. And Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower might as well pack his bags and go home.

ONLY the test of battle, which any man in his senses must hope will never come, can provide a final answer. But after joining without prior warning four different French combat units, after living in intimate contact with officers and men in moments of relaxation and during intensive training, this reporter is ready to offer an opinion which amounts to a strong conviction. This conviction is, incidentally, shared by the best informed men in Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters.

In brief, the quality of the French Army is most seriously underestimated in the United States. Given the fulfillment of certain admittedly very difficult conditions, France should be capable of putting into the field an army the equal, man for man, of any army in the world.

It is, of course, difficult to define precisely the reasons for this conviction. The army of a great nation cannot be tested and graded like a schoolboy taking exams. But the conviction springs essentially from the impression conveyed by almost all French soldiers, from the recruit on the rifle range to the gunner in a Sherman tank or the commander of an infantry battalion, of being masters of a trade in which they are passionately interested. Americans are too prone to forget that the French, for all their recent disasters, have been masters of the military trade for a great many years.

IN THE short time since the United States made its belated investment in military aid, the French have developed, almost from nothing, an army in which the French are not only repeating the error of preparing for the last war, and the morale, all things considered, is downright remarkable. As any French soldier will tell you with considerable heat and at rather devastating length, there are still a great many things wrong with the French Army, notably the simple fact that there is nowhere near enough of it. But in this preliminary report, some things that are not wrong with the French Army should be pointed out.

THE universal skepticism in the United States, about the quality of the French Army springs partly from the moral and political situation of post-war France. This is a subject outside the scope of this report. But it can be said that the worm's-eye view of the French which an American gets from living with a French infantry battalion, for example, has little in common with the atmosphere of moral squalor which Paris shares with most world capitals. The vitality and almost frenetic energy of the healthy young French soldiers leaves the impression that France may have been written off a good deal too soon. The worm's eye view is not always the wrong view.

A second source of skepticism is the memory of the six disastrous weeks of France in 1940. This is manifestly unfair. After the Maginot line was turned, France simply lacked the means to fight.

FINALLY, it is natural for an American to assume, after a glance at French voting statistics, that one out of every four French soldiers is a potential fifth columnist. Yet unless everyone this reporter has talked to, from private to general, is either a liar or a fool, within the French Army the Communist problem is not a serious problem at all.

This is partly because the proportion of French Communists on whom Stalin could confidently rely in case of war is really very small. It is partly because active Communists have long since been weeded out of the ranks of the regular officers and N.C.O.'s who form the backbone of the French Army. It is partly because the metropolitan recruits who make up the bulk of the manpower are too young to have been deeply indoctrinated.

AND it is partly also because of the inherent nature of army life; anyone who has served in the ranks of any army will surely recall how quickly large political questions were engulged in such more urgent matters as rifle scores and leave.

But there is another reason which transcends all these, and which should perhaps have been obvious at the outset. This is the simple fact that Frenchmen are, after all, still Frenchmen; that they have not all suddenly become cowards or traitors; and that given the means to do so they will fight, if fight they must, to defend their country. It is really as simple as that.

Gordian Knot

Logging The Watershed

Your editorial of Friday, Sept. 14, 1951, entitled "What's Happening at Sooke" is answered in previous editorials and reports published in the Daily Times from time to time from the 14th of March, 1949, when the decision to log watershed lands on a sustained yield basis was first announced by the Water Board. However, you have asked specific questions which I shall be pleased to answer.

The Water Board is planning to log certain parts of the Sooke and Goldstream Watersheds. At the present time, seven separate contracts have been let, but these are primarily "salvage" operations required for both fire protection and pathological reasons. A larger, long-term contract has been recommended to the Board and it is hoped to call for tenders in the near future.

THE basis of the forest management plan for the watersheds is to remove each year an amount of timber equal to what the area will produce in growing timber. This is the recommended practice for all British Columbia forest lands. It requires competent and thorough knowledge of the timber cover, soil cover, topography, pathological conditions and fire protection of the area. That is why the Board employs a full-time forester and also calls on a consultant forester when important decisions are to be made.

The Water Board has been told that the combined Sooke and Goldstream Watersheds of 30,000 acres will allow an annual cut of nine million board feet forever.

The total timber cover is estimated at over 300 million board feet. A large part of this being "mature" timber that is no longer putting on an annual increment of growth. An area of mature timber such as this lies west and northwest of Sooke Lake. While it stands in virgin state, this block of old mature timber is a depreciating asset but the deep soil cover has shown that this area is highly capable of growing Douglas Fir.

The foresters, therefore, recommend its removal over a period of years so that new growing timber will cover the area after natural reforestation from seed trees surrounding the logged areas.

It is interesting to note that one group of citizens has consistently argued against removal of timber from any part of the watershed, yet in their arguments are apparently referring only to timber on steep slopes with shallow soil conditions. This group has been told that the Board is not going to log timber where such conditions exist. The Board requires a green cover over all watershed lands but wants a growing cover of young trees instead of a mantle of over-mature timber rapidly becoming decadent.

The argument that "reforestation could be carried out only under extreme conditions, if at all" is entirely wrong, since the conditions are ideal in the Sooke area for natural regeneration. It is in the interests of water supply protection and conservation that this program of logging has been endorsed.

Briefly answering your further questions, the territory involved in this proposed sale at Sooke Lake is 2,400 acres, to be logged over a period of fifteen years. The amount of timber involved is about 100 million board feet, and although an upset price has not yet been calculated, an escalator clause will be necessary to cover log price variation over the fifteen-year period. Present market value is upwards of $2,000,000.

This contract, as in the case of any Board contract, will be approved by the Board's solicitor and the personal supervision of the forester and his staff will see that no damage results to the watershed, as the Board will always have the right to remove the logging company for infraction of the terms of the contract.

PATCHES Selective logging, as practised in the coastal areas, means "clear-cutting" of small patches, with the surrounding area left intact until natural regeneration has occurred, when another adjoining patch is then logged.

There is no gamble at all in such an undertaking. It is sound water conservation policy to develop and keep a growing forest cover on the watershed, with roads for accessibility to diminish protection difficulties, and an intelligent and logical program preserving the water supply values of the watershed and making maximum beneficial use of the fine resources that now cover the area is, we are sure, to be the final result.

R. DAVIS,
Chief Commissioner, Greater Victoria Water District.

MILK AND LUCIFER

Who is responsible for the serious milk situation?

The one-man board was replaced by a tripartite board and the new political appointees get: namely Mrs. Rex Eaton and H. M. King. And what do these "experts" know about milk anyway?

These are questions the public is interested in. The health of this province should be the first consideration of the cabinet—or is their objective to fill the hospitals with starving adults and children? Would that make the ill hospital scheme into a healthy organization, thereby making these up-to-date buildings places for happy and healthy citizens to live and enjoy the fruits of their labor? What a dream to contemplate!

Sir, I think this is the final "straw" and it is to be hoped that the electors of this province will wake up to the disastrous misgovernment and undemocratic system, fed by extravagance and a high-handed bureaucracy.

Lucifer and his legion is surely let loose in this province.

Swapping

New York Times.

The return to the United States of 625 Boy Scouts, the American contingent to the World Scout Jamboree at Bad Ischl, Austria—wearing turbans, fezzes, kilts and other articles obtained in trades with Scouts of other lands, was an encouraging sign that the art of the swap is still a very lively art indeed. "The principle of reciprocal transfer of goods, of giving and taking," says the Encyclopaedia Britannica, "seems in fact to be deep-rooted in human nature." A good thing it is, too, else the world might be in much worse shape than we find it.

"No," said the Elevator Man, "there's a good deal still to be learned from the old-timers. You can speed up a lot of things, but not maturity."

Stalemate Again At Tehran

The Times (London)

THE British government no longer hope for any satisfactory agreement with Dr. Mossadek and they are acting accordingly. Even when Mr. Stokes had to return home after the failure of his mission in Tehran there still remained the faint hope that the Persian Government might give itself time to consider again the proposals which Mr. Stokes had put before it for the future of the Persian oil industry. Mr. Harriman publicly declared that these proposals offered a basis for negotiation.

The trouble was that Dr. Mossadek had neither the will nor the experience to negotiate on anything approaching business-like terms. He himself has recognized the dangers into which the extremist policy is leading the whole Persian empire, yet he seems ready to accept all the dangers rather than alter his approach.

Recently Dr. Mossadek announced that he would send a message—or ultimatum—to London informing the British Government that, unless they showed within a fortnight that they were ready to resume negotiations, he would expel the British oil experts who remained in Persia.

FINALLY CONVINCED

It was this announcement which finally convinced the British Government that there could be no agreement with Dr. Mossadek. They in turn announced that the talks were not merely suspended but broken off, and they gave the warning—which might have been more clearly expressed—that any attempt to evict British employees "would be a further breach of the interim injunction of The Hague International Court."

Since then opposition to Dr. Mossadek has grown in the Persian Majlis, and many deputies have prudently absented themselves, not wishing to support Dr. Mossadek, but fearing to expose themselves to the extremists by voting openly against him.

The latest Persian move came on Sept. 9 when Dr. Mossadek made it known that, whether or not he got his vote of confidence in the Majlis, he would send notice of his threat to the British Government by way of Mr. Harriman.

It is against such a background that the British Treasury's latest announcement has to be read. The Government declares that the measures which they are about to take are in no sense retaliatory; they are measures which this country had to take to defend its own interests once it had become plain that no agreement with the present Persian Government was in prospect. Dr. Mossadek's actions, which have injured Persia by bringing the oil industry to a standstill, have no less obviously caused losses to this country and the time has come when steps must be taken to stop some of the drain.

HEAVY EXPENDITURE

Since this country can no longer count on receiving oil from Persia, it faces a heavy expenditure of dollars for oil from other sources and it also faces the loss of foreign exchange that was accumulated by the oil company's worldwide trading operations. Hitherto Persia has enjoyed special facilities for converting sterling into dollars and for making use of sterling for payments.

Now, states the Treasury with evident logic, the cessation of exports from Persia "removes the justification for these special facilities," and they will be withdrawn. "His Majesty's Government can no longer afford to supply Persia with dollars," and sterling payments to and from Persia will be subject to the permission of the Treasury.

This country has also been supplying Persia—in view of the close relationship between the two countries—with certain scarce goods which were urgently needed here or could have been sold with advantage in other markets. The supply of these goods—including steel and railway track material—will be discontinued until there are signs that the close relationship between the two countries can be restored.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN TOBIN

"I SEE," said the Elevator Man, "where four old-timers have been having a high old time. They staged a race from Chicago to New York, and proved that age is no bar to achievement. Two of the old-timers were men, aged 70 and 76. The other two were women, aged 72 and 78. They were in a Stanley Steamer of 1913 and a gas buggy born in 1911. The Stanley won, but only by a few minutes. Perhaps those two extra years told in the long run. But although the younger car came in first, it was driven by the older driver, which should prove man's triumph over the machine and age's triumph over youth. You have to admire those old chariots and charioteers, plugging along the highway, whistling and wheezing both in front of the steering wheel and behind it. The new cars that zoomed by them, with their hydromatic shifts and their gleaming chrome gadgets, might show a lot of improvements over the early models, but they still only do the same job—carrying you from one spot on the globe to another. Lower main!"

"It's doubtful," said the Elevator Man, "whether you could say much more for the drivers. We may have added quite a few modernistic trappings to mankind in the past forty years or so, but the basic article is still the same. And there's a good deal of evidence that the old model was superior in many ways to the latest product. The modern one travels faster, no doubt. It zooms where the other one chugged, it has a self-starter, a convertible top, quick acceleration and low fuel consumption. But having said that, what can you add? It moves faster from point to point, but what does it do when it gets there? It climbs faster but it comes down faster too. It's more complex, but just as easy to fool. And when it finally goes to the junkyard—often at a much earlier age—it can't claim any better life, any greater truth, any more honor, any finer ideals. Mezzanine!"

"No," said the Elevator Man, "there's a good deal still to be learned from the old-timers. You can speed up a lot of things, but not maturity."

A.F.L. ADOPTS NEW POLITICAL POLICY

Labor Admits Mistake In Ganging Act Against Taft; Will Go It Alone In 1952

WASHINGTON (UP)—The American Federation of Labor at its San Francisco convention has just admitted that the unions overplayed their hands in last year's elections.

More specifically, organized labor was too brash and bold in its 1950 attempt to lick Sen. Robert A. Taft in Ohio. The A.F.L. now admits that and proposes smarter tactics next year when Taft may be running for president.

The A.F.L. labor's league for political education decided at San Francisco Tuesday to go it alone in the 1952 presidential elections. It will plug secretly for united A.F.L., C.I.O., railway and other union support of given candidates. But the A.F.L. political league will stay out of labor front organizations or any public alliance with other labor unions. The A.F.L. strategists hope other unions will do likewise.

Sales Approach Topic At Kiwanis Meeting

Requirements of a successful sales approach were outlined for members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday by John Vickers, general sales manager of Sidney Roofing and Paper Co. Ltd.

He stressed that salesmen should remember the reasons why people buy goods or services: to secure pleasure, for monetary gain, to avoid loss, and to avoid pain. He said successful salesmanship demanded tact, diplomacy, courtesy, and an interest in the article sold.

'DUNKING' THING OF PAST

No Hazing For U.B.C. Frosh

De-emphasis on hazing—feature of Freshman Week in other years at U.B.C.—was announced today by the frosh orientation committee. Opening ceremonies begin Friday.

"We plan to substitute helping in place of hazing," Jack Lintoot, Freshman Week organizer, said in Vancouver today. One important change will be the abolition of the time-honored "dunking" of freshmen in the lily pond by the engineers.

Frosh regalia this year will consist of a gold and blue Eton-style cap and a large pasteboard identification label button.

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor.

You'll pardon us we're sure if our slip is showing, but in keeping with style we are forced to confess today that the Victoria Shamrocks must institute a new fashion if they hope to dress up for the Mann Cup matinee which opens for seven days or less on the west coast next week.

The fellowship existing between the Shamrocks and Vancouver Combines came to an end when Combines overstepped the bounds of courtesy here on Monday night by humiliating the Irish before their assembled friends in the pleasant surroundings of Memorial Arena. They did it at variance with the accustomed policy of each team winning before its own social gathering and they didn't even have the decency to apologize for the distasteful exhibition of superiority.

Nor had they had any reason to. The Shamrocks who entered this housewarming, thinking that the Dutch Treat policy would prevail, now find their own little garden party washed out by an avalanche of Combine goals and, must, of necessity, get back into the festive whirl with a surprise party of their own on the mainland tonight.

The corn husking starts at 8:30 and if the Shamrocks haven't plucked a few ears by quarter-time, no high tea will be served on their return. That seems to be the key to the problem, serious as it is, but not as serious as it should be, if the Shamrocks can put themselves in the right frame of mind for the potlatch it is bound to be.

Sheer Fight Will Do It

There is no doubt that the Shamrocks have been off color in all but one game of this series, their pigment having been lost in the lustre of a league championship with its multi-colored hues and the polychromatic finish they applied to the Indians in the semi-final series.

And it need not be written that the Shamrocks must win. But as the die has been cast—fatefully they say on the mainland—it is up to the Rocks to put away their shiny blue ribbons, and highly-prized trophies and resort to that same old-fashioned display of heart with which they won every green-blooded lacrosse fan last year. "They can do it" a front page editorial said here yesterday, and they'll have every man, woman and child behind them, too.

Doug Fletcher and Ivan Temple, two of the men most responsible for the promotion of minor hockey in Victoria during the past few years are not at odds as has been intimated. . . . Certainly they may have their differences of opinion but when it comes to helping the kids there's few in town who can boast a better record. . . . It is to be hoped that they will continue their good work. . . . Fletcher recently gained a valuable concession for the City Basketball League from school authorities over the rental at the High School gym where senior games in all probability will be played again this year. . . . Don Gray of the District Soccer League was the recipient of a letter from Fulham's Eddie Lowe recently in which Eddie expressed gratitude for the hospitality received in Victoria. . . . Speaking of football Austin Delaney says it's so. . . . Tottenham Hotspurs will visit Canada next year. . . . Joe Robbins also wants it known that the Robbins boys never did quit United as was reported. . . . Glad to get the record straight. . . . It has been rumored that Bill McAllister is not only trying out for United but has been casting eyes at New Westminster as well. . . . Our guess today is that the Shamrocks will square the best-of-seven finals with Vancouver Combines tonight and force that seventh game. . . . They're not gritty a bunch to let a home loss get them down. . . . Memory of that Indian series of last year is still strong in our memory. . . . CJVI will carry a broadcast of the proceedings. . . .

GILES HAS INSIDE TRACK

Commissioner's Post To Be Filled Thursday

CHICAGO (UP)—Informed sources said today that baseball's next commissioner would be either Cincinnati Reds president Warren Giles or National League president Ford Frick.

It was understood that Giles was the candidate preferred by most of the 16 major league clubs, who meet tomorrow to pick the successor to Commissioner A. B. "Happy" Chandler.

Chandler resigned July 15, some nine months before his contract was to expire.

Giles, Frick and minor league president George Trautman were understood to be the major candidates on the list of five or six possible successors. But baseball sources discounted the chance that any of the other candidates could make a run for the position.

It was understood the other three included James Farley, former postmaster-general and Stuart Symington, head of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Governor Frank Lausche of Ohio also had been regarded as a strong candidate until he withdrew from consideration last week.

Baseball spokesmen indicated the club owners were "generally agreed" upon the qualifications desired in baseball's third commissioner. The major requirement, it was understood, was that he must be a baseball man.

"He ought to be somebody who knows the problems of the game today," one owner said, "somebody who can take over without a year or two of waiting to find out what it's all about."

"If you were running a steel company and wanted to pick a president, you wouldn't go around to a bakery and pick a baker to fill the job, would you?"

"If we haven't developed some men in our own ranks to take this job," he added, "then we're not very smart."

Both fighters will be bidding for one of boxing's best "money shots"—a crack at Sugar Ray Robinson's 160-pound crown. The winner stands a good chance of gaining an engagement in February with Sugar Ray, the ring's hottest box office attraction at the moment.

The flight will be broadcast and televised over national networks at 10 p.m. EDT.

RED WINGS ALREADY IN? BRASS OZZES CONFIDENCE

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (CP)—In a display of unusual confidence, the general manager and coach of Detroit Red Wings intimated Tuesday that the team is almost sure to finish first in the National Hockey League this season.

"We have more fire and dash than at any other time in the past seven or eight years," said general manager Jack Adams as he reviewed the first 10 days of the Detroit training camp here.

"These youngsters and the spirit of the veterans have proved just the right combination to make this year's Detroit Red Wings a very dangerous threat for another N.H.L. title."

Coach Tommy Ivan was even more certain.

"I've never seen such a hungry bunch of players," he said. "The way things are going now we should take over first place by a comfortable margin."

SCOTS HELD TO TIE

Ulster Takes Dominion Cup

MONTREAL (CP)—Toronto Ulster United last night won the 1955 Dominion soccer championship through a 2-2 draw with Vancouver St. Andrew's in the final of the three-game series.

The first was a one-all tie Saturday. Monday's game went to Ulster, 2-1. Ulster takes over the title won by Vancouver City last year.

Tennessee Tops Grid Poll In U.S.

NEW YORK (UP)—The men who know the sport the best, the coaches themselves, believe power-packed Tennessee will be the nation's No. 1 football team in 1955.

Twenty of the 35 outstanding coaches who make up the United Press rating board picked Tennessee as the team with the best prospects of winning up the season leading the college parade.

Michigan State and Ohio State received four first-place votes each; Oklahoma, last year's champion, and Texas A. & M., two each, while Alabama, Illinois and Notre Dame each received one first-place ballot.

On the basis of 10 points for a first-place vote, nine for a second, and so on down to one for a 10th, Tennessee received a total of 292 points out of a possible 350.

Oklahoma, which wound up the 1954 season with 32 first-place votes from the 35 coaches, received a total of 211 points to rank second, with Michigan State third with 166 points.

Rounding out the top 10 in order came California with 152 points; Ohio State, 129; Washington, 112; Illinois, 107; Kentucky, conqueror of Oklahoma in the Sugar Bowl, 100; Alabama, 85, and Notre Dame, 85.

Olympic Pageant To Open Sportsmen Show

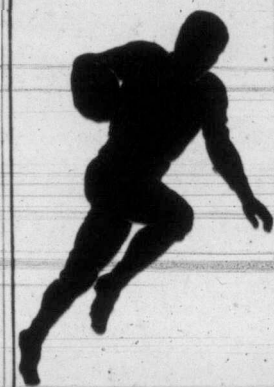

A scene right out of an ancient history book will open the first annual Sportsmen's Show tomorrow night.

In keeping with the motif of ancient Olympic Games, a lighted torch will be carried by runners from the Olde England Inn to the Memorial Arena, the scene of the show. Holding the torch high, the last runner will enter the arena in complete darkness except for spotlights on the entrance. With a quartet of trumpets heralding his entrance, the runner will circle the arena three times and then light the main torch in a specially prepared podium. The main torch will burn for the three-day duration of the show.

College Football Should Clean House—Brundage

CHICAGO (AP)—Avery Brundage, uncompromising spokesman for amateurism in athletics, called today on American colleges to reform their football program in order to save the sport.

"Responsibility for the evils of football can be laid squarely on the doorstep of the top-level college administrative authorities, and not on the athletic departments," said Brundage. "It is their responsibility to correct the situation and prevent it from becoming a national scandal."

The reform Brundage proposes is simple:

"College sports departments should be put on a par with the academic departments," he said. "We got into our present difficulty because our colleges followed the medieval notion that only the mind counts. They scorned the athletic departments."

"So college presidents and faculties paid no heed to the mad merry-go-round that football created—rich inducements to players, heavier demands on coaches, bigger and more expensive publicity departments, bigger and better stadiums. The colleges did pay heed, however, to the money that football produced."

"What we have now is the natural result of putting the emphasis on dollars and publicity. In fact, the athletic departments have done a highly successful job of getting both."

"Abuses overlooked or tolerated in football are spreading to other clean and healthy sports and games and poisoning our entire amateur program."

"The way to stop this is to go back to the ancient Greek ideal which puts equal emphasis on developing the body along with the mind—which makes sport fun instead of a commercial enterprise."

Brundage, who has been president of the U.S. Olympic Association since 1928 and is International Olympic Committee vice-president as well, is so concerned to set the record straight on amateurism that he has started to write a book about it. Word of this leaked out and this interview was a result.

Hawks Acquire Quackenbush From Wings

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League Tuesday obtained defenseman Max Quackenbush, 23, from Detroit Red Wings in exchange for Doug McCaig of Guelph, Ont., also a defenseman.

Quackenbush, a Toronto-born player, is expected to give additional depth to the Hawks' defense. He is the younger brother of Bill Quackenbush, former Detroit player now with Boston.

Veterans Roy Conacher, Bill Mosienko and Doug Bentley are expected to check into the Hawks' training camp here soon to join the rest of the squad now working out for week-end exhibition jousts with Detroit at Copper Cliff and North Bay.

Fred Hucul, Guyle Fielder and Syd Finney, all from western Canada, are possible starters in an amateur line coach Ebbe Goodfellow plans to use in the exhibition game.

Goalie Harry Lumley has been working hard to get in trim. Jack Stewart, Bill Gadsby, Clare Martin, Rags Raglan, Leo Fogolin and Al Dewbury are trying for defense spots.

Coach Goodfellow has been experimenting with Dewbury, a big fellow who packs a powerful shot, on a forward line.

CARNERA FAILS TO PLEASE VIENNA CROWD

VIENNA (AP)—Riot squads of Vienna police were called tonight to quell an angry chair-throwing crowd of 6,000 wrestling fans, disappointed in an exhibition starring Prima Carnera.

The irate crowd, shouting they had been cheated, broke up seats and tore down wooden fences of the outdoor stadium after Carnera's Vienna-born opponent was disqualified.

When riot squads were unable to quiet enraged spectators police cleared them from the stadium and broke up the evening's show.

Missing U.S. Flier Safe At Ontario Tourist Camp

Roy Neiswander, Object Of Extensive R.C.A.F. Search, Had Engine Trouble

WINNIPEG (CP)—An American sportsman, object of an R.C.A.F. search in northern Manitoba and northwestern Ontario for the last three days, Tuesday night landed his light plane at a tourist camp near Vermilion Bay, Ont., 170 miles east of here.

The wife of the flier, Roy H. Neiswander of Springfield, Ill., said today in a long-distance telephone interview from Kenora, Ont., that her husband "apparently had engine trouble, but got it fixed."

She had received a telephone message from the Patricia Transport Company that Neiswander had landed at Dale Clark's camp at Corner Lake around 10:30 p.m.

No other details were available. She and a friend left by automobile today to pick up Neiswander at the camp.

Neiswander had been missing since Sept. 10 on a 300-mile flight from God's Lake, Man., to Red Lake, Ont., in his Cessna 170 aircraft.

The R.C.A.F. was called into the search for Neiswander last week-end after he failed to show up for a fishing rendezvous at Red Lake. His plane was last seen Sept. 10 when it flew over Elk's Island, 430 miles northeast of here.

G.V.C.A. Up $1,700 On May 24 Receipts

Out of debt after facing a deficit of $4,000 from last year, the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, which runs the annual May 24 celebrations, now has a surplus of $1,700.

At the group's recent annual meeting, M. F. Hunter, who was re-elected chairman, said co-operation of member organizations and private citizens should be given credit for the improved financial position.

B.C. Electric Rate Increase Decision Soon

The Public Utilities Commission will hand down a decision about mid-October on the B.C. Electric's application for increased power rates, acting chairman D. K. Penfold estimated today.

A public hearing on the requests was held in Victoria Monday. The increase, amounting to 13 per cent on domestic rates and 15 on commercial, were granted on an interim basis earlier in the year.

Vancouver hearing will start next Monday. Resistance to the increases is expected to be tougher in Vancouver than it was in Victoria where only Central Saanich protested.

Forest Service, Hunters Share Blame For Fire

DUNCAN — North Cowichan municipal council last night condemned the B.C. Forest Service for allowing hunters to enter the woods.

The municipal clerk will write a letter of protest, and send with it a bill to cover cost of fighting a bush fire in the Sahliam area that flared up over the week-end.

There is also too much drinking among hunters, in the opinion of Reeve A. E. Beasley, who remarked at the council meeting that "firewater and firearms are a poor combination."

No Firm Offer Ever Made For P.G.E. By-Election Meeting Told By Anscomb

The provincial government has never received an official offer for the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said at a Shawinigan Lake meeting last night.

Mr. Anscomb was replying to a question from the floor. "Nobody has ever made an official offer to buy the railway. There has just been a lot of newspaper talk about mythical people," declared the minister. He added that attempts had been made to have the C.P.R. and C.N.R. take over the railroad, but they declined.

"However, with such great development going on they may be reaching the point where they might want the railroad," said Mr. Anscomb.

FAVORS SELLING

The questioner asked if the government would consider selling the P.G.E. to the United States.

The speaker said he, himself, would favor selling if the right offer was made. He stressed he was only giving his personal opinion.

"But whoever bought it would have to agree to extend the railroad to the Peace River country and into Vancouver. If the purchaser didn't extend it, the railway would lose its potential value," Mr. Anscomb said.

Earlier in the meeting, the finance minister said until the railroad is extended "we are just floundering around in the wilderness." It must go to the heart of the people, he added. Limited funds are the problem, he pointed out.

Residents of the north country always talk of Edmonton and never of Victoria or Vancouver, Mr. Anscomb explained. Extension of the railroad would change this, he concluded.

Langford Raises $500 For Sclerosis Victim

The community of Langford is responding generously in the raising of a fund to assist Owen McLeod suffering from multiple sclerosis. Under sponsorship of the Community Club, canvassers have raised nearly $500 toward the $1,000 necessary to send the 31-year-old war veteran to a Tacoma clinic for treatment.

First noticed in 1941, the disease has been growing steadily worse, and he is faced with having to give up his job as a desk worker at Langford Electric. Climax of the fund-raising drive will be a dance Sept. 28 in the Community Hall.

Coldwell Scores Federal Fight Apathy In Community Chest Drive

Stand On Price Control

OTTAWA (BUP) — C.C.F. Leader M. J. Coldwell charged the government was responsible for an unjust system of "rationing the purse" under which low-income groups in Canada are denied goods in short supply.

Coldwell made the charge in a speech over the Trans-Canada Network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation last night. He devoted his entire speech to breaking down arguments advanced two weeks ago by Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent in opposition to any system of price control in Canada at this time.

The C.C.F. leader disagreed with Mr. St. Laurent's statement that the Canadian people would not be prepared to accept rationing under a price control system.

IS CONVINCED

"I am convinced that if, under a system of price controls, any essential commodity were in short supply, the people of Canada would far rather have rationing by tickets than they would the present kind of rationing by the purse," Coldwell said.

The Prime Minister also failed to recognize, Coldwell said, that Canada already has rationing.

"True, it is not rationing by tickets," he said. "Rather, it is a much more cruel, hard and unjust kind of rationing—it is rationing by the purse. Lower income people are rationed out of the market by high prices, and the goods go to those who are relatively well-to-do, who can pay the inflated price."

Community Chest officials will make an effort to show outlying areas how they will benefit from the one-night drive for funds Oct. 1.

Campaign co-chairman Milton King reported Monday that at Brentwood he found no enthusiasm toward the campaign, and that neither the Board of Trade or P.T.A. was interested in canvassing the area.

Addresses will be made and maps published to show the scope of the Community Chest activities. In addition, a group of men will be detailed to canvass the area. Women members of the P.T.A. made the canvass last year, and objected to having to make long walks alone to complete the job.

By ART STOTT

Morning comes to the waterfront these days cold and grey. The early mists of autumn seem heavier at sea level, blanketing the strait and cutting off the forelands. Offshore, the complaining voices of ships low like bewildered cattle, deep-throated, protesting.

Yet there is a melody to them, a harmony of long acquaintance as they join intermittent chorus with the baying of the Trial Island foghorn. To those who have come to know them, there is a fitness to the deep notes that finger out through the mists, probing, questing, warning other vessels in passage. In them is a melancholy music of the season hurrying through September to October.

THEY SEEM to emphasize the comfort of his bed to the man slow-waking. Though they rouse him from sound sleep, they encourage him to shrug the covers more closely around him for the brief after-nap that precedes the autocratic and demanding clatter of an alarm clock.

But there is no melody, there is no friendly overtone, in the hysterically rising wall of the navy ship as it passes outside the bay. It is a frenzied, short-breathed yell that throws discord into the softer tones of other boat whistles—a siren that raises alarm, that sets nerves on edge, that rouses the slow-waking man into fearful alertness, the hackles lifting at the back of his neck.

Now there's doubtless a good reason for that type of signal in a navy ship. It's piercing. It carries a good distance and it jets hearers into quick awareness. Just the same it's a hideous call to hear in the grey of dawn.

NOW IT APPEARS to me that the Navy and the E. & N. ought to be able to do business on signals. The railway must have replaced the old train whistles before the new airhorns were installed on diesels. They aren't melodic, but they do sound like something you expect to hear on a ship. A gift from the E. & N. is in order. Then the navy could turn its screaming meemies over to Leonard Hatcher and we'd have a supply of air-rail sirens.

That could lend the late September mornings a certain measure of peacefulness. A man could waken to the modified organ tones of ships at sea. He could roll over and snooze again. Then he could rise and go to his window to see how the fog had laid a light grey cashmere on his lawn, given his trees a dripping life, and brightened the tweed of michaelmas daisies, asters and other late blooms in his garden.

The prospect can be engaging—as engaging as possible unless a man can banish ships' noises, grey mornings, clattering alarm clocks, and just keep on sleeping until the late September afternoon sun makes its reasonable attempt to warm the world.

Dairymen Fly To Vancouver To See Board

If No Action, To Meet Cabinet

Dairymen of Vancouver Island are continuing their fight for $6.72 per 100 pounds of milk and a victory will mean a new milk price boost in all probability.

A delegation of dairy farmers from Courtenay, Duncan and Victoria flew to Vancouver today for a meeting with the B.C. Milk Board.

If action suitable to the producers is not forthcoming, a further meeting with the provincial cabinet, is planned for Friday.

Henry G. Robinson, secretary manager of the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association, heads the delegation.

Seventy producers, meeting Tuesday night at Duncan, decided that the delegation should be sent after voting that the recent Milk Board award of $5.90 is not sufficient to keep dairy farms operating.

It is believed that a Milk Board grant of the full amount asked will further increase the price of milk by at least one cent per quart at the retail level.

Some talk of a strike as a last resort still persists, with suggestions being made that milk withheld from the market during such a strike be made into butter.

Meanwhile, Victoria wholesalers report a plentiful supply of canned milk, powdered whole milk, and powdered skim milk on hand.

Both evaporated and powdered milk produced in B.C. is in short supply, but products of eastern Canadian plants are believed fully capable of keeping up with any marked increase in demand caused by the recent increase in whole milk prices. Prices of powdered milk have advanced during the past six to eight weeks, with one B.C. brand up from 32 to 39 cents per one-pound tin.

Fishermen Face Charge

Two of the three men alleged to have been on the gillnet fishboats involved in a shooting affray with police last week-end in closed Cowichan Bay waters, will be charged with obstructing a fisheries officer in the execution of his duties, R.C.M.P. reported today.

Facing this charge will be George Hubert and William MacDonald, both of Steveston. Hubert and Alfred H. Bergum, also of Steveston, were being escorted to Duncan this afternoon. They will also be charged with illegal fishing with a net in Cowichan Bay waters.

Donald "has" already pleaded guilty to this.

It was indicated today that more serious charges might be laid against one or more of the men.

The incident occurred after Mr. Sherman had gone to challenge the fishermen for using nets in bay waters.

MORE ABOUT BY-ELECTION

Mrs. R. D. Harvey, vice-president of the British Columbia Women's Progressive Conservative Association, said she defied anyone to say the other candidates in the by-election had the mayor's qualifications.

At the Langford meeting Premier Johnson reviewed the developments of British Columbia and the confidence shown in the government by outside investors. Listing many of the 34-point Coalition manifesto, the premier termed the Alcan project at Kitimat the "most spectacular development."

A lively question period resulted from his address, and chairman Geoffrey Edgerton had to caution several questioners to keep their remarks to questions, not speeches.

C.C.F. PRAISES TAX

The no-speech rule, however, was waived for a moment when an elderly man, who said he belonged to the C.C.F. party, commended the government on the 3 per cent sales tax.

"It's the best thing that ever happened for B.C.'s old people," he declared. "Believe me, I hate to say it, but it's true."

He then said the Liberals were moving closer to the C.C.F. platform.

In reply to a question, Premier Johnson said he was opposed to sweepstakes as a source of revenue for hospitals. He wouldn't like to see the foundation of hospital insurance built on sweepstakes.

AGAINST MILK SUBSIDY

In reply to a question on milk subsidies, the premier said he would be reluctant to subsidize any commodity.

A listener asked the speaker if property taxes wouldn't be a more equitable way of raising money from the 3 per cent sales tax.

"Is it not true that the 3 per cent tax helps to keep down property taxes on people like Logan Mayhew's land?" he asked.

Premier Johnson said this was a "smart alec" question and refused to answer.

To Start Highway '52 Says Carson

The long-awaited new Island Highway outlet from Victoria probably will be started next year.

This was indicated last night in a radio address by Works Minister E. C. Carson, who was speaking in support of Coalition candidate Percy E. George.

"Surveys are now complete on the Victoria-Goldstream section of the Island Highway and it is expected that funds will be available for this important section of highway this coming year," said Mr. Carson.

Queried this morning on other aspects of the plan, the works minister said the route to be followed will not be announced until tenders have been called.

"In addition to improving travel conditions for Island Highway traffic, it will also serve the Sooke area," Mr. Carson said.

The minister reviewed the province's public works program. While the province has primarily been reconstructing the main highway system, the government has in addition progressively improved by reconstruction and paving the secondary and access roads. Examples, he said, were the Sooke and Cowichan Lake Roads.

In connection with the Trans-Canada Highway, Mr. Carson said he has been advised by the federal government that at the end of 1950 B.C. had more miles of this great undertaking up to the required standard than any other province.

"I'm sure that with your support of the Coalition candidate Percy George that we can accelerate this work and retain our position of leadership," said Mr. Carson.

The mayor spoke of blocking the road with a human chain to stop the Royal party. He wrote directly to Princess Elizabeth, and she herself, hearing of the Duncan situation, expressed sympathy with the feeling of the residents.

"We thought she might arrange a stop here. Then we understood the party might slow down to three miles per hour through Duncan," Mayor Wragg added. "We will be really disappointed if that is all we see of them."

"We'll give them the works' if they come," he said.

Cars Grope Through Fog, Avoid Mishap

Clammy fog mixed with smoke from a forest fire at Nanaimo settled down on Victoria overnight, reducing visibility severely where it lay in heaviest patches, but causing no reported traffic accidents or marine delays.

Lifting earlier than on Tuesday, when visibility was only one-eighth of a mile until 2.30 p.m. at the Gonzales Observatory, the fog is expected to return Thursday morning.

No marked change in the weather is forecast for today and Thursday, with the high temperature for both days expected to be 65, and the overnight low at about 45.

Officially, the weather man says "mostly clear today and tomorrow."

Pacific storms bringing rain clouds are being diverted from this area by a persistent ridge of high pressure running north and south off the coast. Their altered course takes the storms into the Aleutian and north coastal areas.

Bad Brakes Draw Bigger Fine

After stressing the danger to pedestrians and other cars caused by people driving with inadequate brakes, Magistrate H. C. Hall imposed $25 fines—$10 more against two drivers in city police court today.

Pleading guilty to the poor brakes charges were Robert L. King, 3365 Cedar Hill Road, and David Dundas, 2658 Adebury Avenue.

Gordon Poupore, acting prosecutor, told the court King had been in collision with Kenneth Simpson, 11 of 524 John F. street, on Bay Street, recently. The boy suffered what was classed as a severe head injury.

The prosecutor said that Dundas was driving a car that would "only glide to a stop" going five m.p.h.

Both drivers assured the magistrate that they had since had the brakes adjusted.

She Swims Without Flutter

Swimming star Margaret Hutton doesn't use her feet in the water. No flutter... except for cameraman Bill Halkett. She will appear at the Lions' Club Sportsmen's Show at Memorial Arena, Sept. 27-29. You have to have a supple instep, she says. And she has.

LECTURER in the current series of Audubon Screen Tours sponsored by the Victoria Natural History Society, C. A. (Bert) Harwell, of Berkeley, Calif., will arrive here Monday to present his color film "Canada West." The film, which features birds of Victoria region, has already been shown across the United States and Eastern Canada. Mr. Harwell is also well-known as an adept in imitating bird calls and songs.

Shapely Legs Go Ignored By Stately Swimming Star

By DICK PRAUL

Statuesque, auburn-haired Margaret Hutton, who swims like no one else, breezed into Victoria today to prepare for her feature act at the three-day first annual Vancouver Island Sportsmen's Show starting at the Arena tomorrow night.

The Toronto-born swim queen, member of Buster Crabbe's Aqua Parade, was in the midst of some stiff morning calisthenics when a Times writer and photographer called on her at the Douglas Hotel.

"Have to excuse me a minute," the personable Miss Hutton apologized. "I have a lot of silly exercises to do each day. For instance, these toe exercises. See the way my toes are pointed? That's the way they have to be for swimming."

Miss Hutton will give a highly-specialized exhibition in the tank at the Sportsmen's Show each night, a four-minute swimming display that is really different, since she doesn't use her legs.

"I got the idea from watching fish," she explained. "Did you ever notice how splendidly rhythmic they are? I decided if a fish could propel itself so well just using fins I could do a good job just using my arms."

It was an exhausting stunt to perfect, but Miss Hutton did it. Now she has to practise for hours daily to keep in condition for it.

Miss Hutton has come a long way in the swimming profession. As a child she feared the water.

and narrowly missed drowning when she was trapped at the bottom of a swimming hole with one arm stuck in the mud.

"I still dream about that terrible experience, how I finally pulled my arm out and floated to the top," she said.

Miss Hutton, who appeared in the surfboard ballet at the Kolumba, B.C. aqua show last month, will head back home to Los Angeles when she finishes up here Saturday night. Then she will be off for a South American tour.

"But I still like Ma's cooking best," she asserted. "Knocking around the world like this, living out of suitcases isn't all it's said to be."

If you are thinking of buying today's grapes—hold out for a few days. They are expected to be much cheaper at the end of the week. In fact, they will be at an all-time low for this year.

Seedless grapes are selling at two pounds for 35 cents.

In the citrus line, oranges and lemons are priced reasonably right now and are quite abundant. Grapefruit are becoming scarcer. Florida grapefruit will be here in a few weeks.

Red cabbage, new last week, is 8 pennies a pound. Savoy cabbage, 6 cents for the same amount. . . good-sized, fresh carrots are 8 cents a pound. . . squash, 9 pennies. . . and beets 6 cents a pound.

Here's your chance to live up to the old saying, "An apple a day keeps the doctor away." McIntosh's, a real favorite, made a grand entrance last week and the price is 11 cents a pound. Gee! They look so shiny and delicious you won't be able to resist them.

Not to be overlooked are the Wealthy's which are priced at three for a quarter. Red Delicious are 17 cents a pound or two pounds for 33 pennies.

Crab apples for that delicious jelly you make, Mom, are now two pounds for 19 cents.

Washington cantaloupes are replacing Okanagan's. They are larger, but just as good. Giant size, 30 cents each. Others at 11 pennies a pound.

Pears, just dripping with juice, are yours at a quarter for two pounds; bananas, still plentiful, are two pounds for 39 cents.

For those who like coconuts they are in at 15 pennies a pound.

Number one Washington onions done up in clear plastic bags (that can be used in various ways when you have finished with the contents) are three pounds, 25 cents.

Yakima potatoes are now 6 cents a pound. Others are priced at 5 cents for that amount.

Almost over for another year is corn on the cob. It was delicious while it lasted, but if you intend to have another feast you had better have it right away. Selling at 11 cents a pound.

Also making an exit are pickling onions. Eleven cents a pound is what they are asking for 'em now.

Pickling cucumber is the same price, and cauliflower, also ready for pickling is 20 cents a pound.

Do Exercises Correctly
For Effective Results

Often it is not so much what you do as how you do it! The inflection or tone of a voice when saying something may make the meaning entirely different from the one which would be derived from the written page. Your skill at sports depends on how you execute them. Whether you accept an invitation or refuse it is not so important as the way you do it; whether your refusal shows sincere regret and appreciation, or your acceptance reflects real enthusiasm.

How you "do" your hair and your exercises is also of paramount importance. I sometimes receive letters from readers saying that a certain exercise is not accomplishing what it is supposed to. When I inquire about the way the reader is doing the exercise I usually find that it has been incorrect.

I would like to impress on you today the fact that following directions carefully is of the greatest importance if you are to get the results you wish from figure molding exercises. I feel this is important to explain because those of you who write to me for exercises are in earnest and have a right to expect results.

For instance, take the sidebend for waist slimming. If you bend your knees, you will not have the same pull on the waist and you will never limber up by stretching your back leg muscles.

When you do the double cross, lying on the floor and swinging one leg across the other, arms on floor, fingers clinging to floor, you will not get the stretch on the thighs or the twist at the waist which you would get if you kept the over-swinging leg straight and the fingers on the floor.

When you do the bust exercise in which you bend the arms in front of you, grasping the left forearm with the right hand and the right forearm with the left hand and push the elbows together, resisting slightly with the hands—the pectoral muscles of the chest will not move in the same way if the arms are bent level or lower than they will if the arms are shoulder height or a little higher.

I have had so much experience in teaching that I know ahead the mistakes you are most apt to make and warn against them. So—heed directions for lovely results!

If you would like to have my routine for increasing the bust measurement send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 7, "Don't Have Round Shoulders and Flat Bust—Reverse!" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Quintette In Pastel Gowns Attend The Former Gladys June Cruickshank

Their yellow and blue frocks forming a delicate contrast to the bride's all-white gown, five attendants preceded Gladys June Cruickshank up the aisle of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, when she exchanged vows with Edward Arthur Tuttle last Saturday evening.

Rev. J. L. W. McLean heard the nuptial vows of the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugo J. Cruickshank, West Saanich Road, Patricia Bay, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Tuttle, East Saanich Road, Sidney.

C. C. Warren played traditional wedding music as the bride walked up the aisle on the arm of her father. Miss Vera Charlesworth sang "Because," during the signing of the register. Four standards of chrysanthemums in autumn shades decorated the church.

A bouquet of red roses and white carnations complemented the bride's gown of shimmering white satin, styled with fitted bodice and net yoke with scalloped neckline outlined in seed pearls. The full skirt fell in train and her veil of white nylon net fell gracefully from a halo of orange blossoms.

Her attendants were Miss Elsie Thomson, maid of honor, a cousin, Miss Marlene Souter, and Shirley Bate, bridesmaids. Miss Janet Cruickshank, another cousin, and Diane Tuttle, niece of the groom, were junior bridesmaids.

They all carried bouquets of carnations. Pinnocchio roses and chrysanthemums. Matching halos complemented their gowns.

Edmond Meredith was best man, and ushers were George Cruickshank and Richard Tuttle. The lace-covered bridal table was centred with a three-tier cake at a reception in Loughheed's banquet hall. E. J. Hargreaves, Mission, B.C., proposed the toast.

For her honeymoon in the United States, Mrs. Tuttle wore a powder blue dressmaker suit with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Egyptians Now Follow Many Customs Of The West

TORONTO (CP) — Although there are some exceptions such as polygamy and child marriage, women in Egypt are almost as western in outlook and action as Canadians, says Madame Amb. Mitracchi who arrived in Canada recently from Egypt.

Mme. Mitracchi, an attractive middle-aged Egyptian, is an active member of the Alliance Committee in Alexandria, an organization devoted to social work among women and children.

In Egypt the city dweller is better off than the country women, she says. As an instance of this she tells of rural women who consider childbirth as just another chore. They leave their baby in the field, have their baby then hoist it on their back and proceed with their work. In the cities there are good maternity hospitals.

However, Middle Eastern women have progressed considerably since they peered at the outside world from veiled eyes. Socially, educationally and in the arts they have made great strides, particularly the upper class of women, many of whom speak English and French fluently.

Women graduate from French convents, Jewish and Protestant schools as doctors, lawyers and scientists. They serve as social workers and are gradually extending the variety of other occupations open to them, she says.

There is only one amateur dramatic group in Alexandria, Mme. Mitracchi said, but it gets the best in the professional theatre. The Greek dramatic group produces some of the classics. There is an excellent theatre which was left to the government by a wealthy Egyptian.

Madam Speaker Rouses Women's Club With Inspired Address On Britain

A past president of Women's Canadian Club, Hon. Nancy Hodges, now speaker of the B.C. Legislature, stood before her fellow members yesterday afternoon in the Empress Hotel ballroom and presented an eloquent and moving picture of "Britain Today."

Mrs. Hodges, recently returned from a two-month trip to England, spoke first of the Festival of Britain.

Painting a graphic scene in words, she gave those hearing her an understanding of this ambitious and courageous event.

"This outstanding venture," said Mrs. Hodges, "presents the whole story of Britain's place in world leadership across the years."

She continued, "It is proof of the people's faith in the nation's future. They wanted to reassure themselves—as well as the world—and did so through the various expressions of the festival."

Mrs. Hodges described the life of the average woman in Britain in five "D's."

Her life is full of drabness, dullness, disappointment, discipline and denial," she stated.

The shocking truth of strict rationing and hardships faced by British women was described. The speaker told the audience that not once during her seven-week stay did she see a roast of beef.

"During the last few weeks meat has been rationed even more. All that a person is allowed is six ounces a week. Everybody shares in the poor cuts and is glad of anything they can get," she said.

For the past 11 years the people of England have not had cream. In June of this year they had it again and everything was swamped with whipped cream. The luxury was short lived for in July it was again taken off the market.

Mrs. Hodges explained this is only a small example of general conditions.

Touches of humor were added to the address when the speaker gave story examples of the wit and bright outlook of the English, especially the Cockneys.

She also spoke highly of British orderliness, conduct in crowds, and respect for the law.

Voicing the feelings of many, Mrs. Hodges closed with "The 'old country' is not down and never will be! They are taking it on the chin and they are not complaining!"

Mrs. W. H. Wilson presided and thanked the speaker.

Fined For Breaking Game Laws

Five hunters caught breaking the game laws last Saturday by Game Warden Robert Sinclair were fined in provincial police court Tuesday afternoon.

For shooting willow grouse out of season in the McGee Swamp area behind Shawnigan Lake, Thomas Harkness, 3856 Douglas Street, and Fred G.

Simpson, 631 Pandora Avenue, were each fined $15.

Carrying shotguns that were not permanently plugged drew $15 fines and $3 costs for each of three hunters. They were Otto C. H. Wiggins, R.C.A.F., Patricia Bay; Edgar F. Ellis, 3003 Cedar Hill Road, and Dennis King, 2944 Bridge Street. Guns must be plugged so that they can hold no more than two shells in the magazine and one in the breach.

Urges Portion Of Sales Tax For Education

VERNON—A portion of the sales tax should be earmarked for education, according to Austin Curtis, president of the B.C. School Trustees' Association.

The association's 47th annual convention is seeking a solution to the problem of financing education.

"Possibly the best solution would be to bring the Cameron formula up to date. A definite earmarking by the provincial government of a portion of the Social Security and Municipal Aid Tax revenue with a more equitable basis of distribution is advisable," Mr. Curtis said in his report.

The association delegates passed a resolution asking that the Department of Education enlarge its present building approval section to include an advisory committee of field men, headed by an expert on construction and a heating engineer.

Some 65 school boards are represented at the convention which ends Wednesday.

The Weaker Sex?

MEMPHIS, TENN. (AP)—A "man beating his wife" complaint came to police but they said the report wasn't quite correct. "When we arrived," they reported, "the wife had her husband down on the bedroom floor, sitting on top of him. The husband had been drinking but wasn't drunk. Both eyes had been blacked by his wife... we don't think he will cause any more trouble."

Canada Best Friend And Neighbor, Northwest Trade Parley Informed

Special to the Times

MISSOULA, Mont.—Jack Canuck and Uncle Sam, despite occasional misunderstandings, remain the best of customers, friends and allies, Stuart Keate, publisher of The Victoria Daily Times, told members of the Pacific Northwest Trade Association here yesterday.

"Against the ominous pattern of world events," he said, "we will inevitably be drawn closer together, the bonds between us strengthened."

In a comprehensive review of factors having a bearing on relations between the two countries, Mr. Keate stressed the phenomenal growth of Canada during the war and postwar years to its present position as one of the world's leading industrial and trading nations.

NO GRAVY TRAIN

A source of pride to Canadians, the speaker reminded his audience, is the fact that Canada did not "hop aboard the U.S. gravy train," having matched Lend-Lease during the war with its own Mutual Aid, and paid in cash for all purchases in the U.S.

The current trend toward criticism of the United States involves a curious fact, Mr. Keate said. Most of the criticism comes from countries relying heavily on help from the U.S.

The people of the United States are fully capable of weathering the present crisis, Mr. Keate asserted.

Canadian and United States businessmen could improve their knowledge of each other's country in the interest of better relations, he said, basing his opinion on the results of surveys conducted on both sides of the border.

Despite more than 24,000,000 border crossings during the year 1949, the need for more knowledge of the neighboring country was still apparent, he stated.

INFORMATION LACKING

Survey results were discouraging, he said, since they reveal a marked lack of information on the part of citizens in both countries, but encouragement is given by the fact that the average American still regards Canada as the best neighbor and surest friend in the world.

Mr. Keate then furnished the meeting with 10 points of information shown to be most needed by Americans seeking better understanding with Canada.

They included the fact that Canada is America's best customer, is the world's largest producer of newsprint, nickel, radium, platinum and asbestos, and pays cash for U.S. goods.

One-third of all interest payments and dividends of Canadian firms goes to U.S. investors, Mr. Keate said.

The speaker referred to a survey recently conducted in the United States by John Clare, managing editor of Maclean's magazine, who found most Americans

"friendly but uninformed" on Canadian affairs.

Lack of knowledge about Canada among Americans was attributed in part to the fact that Canada makes no trouble for the people next door, and attracts little notice.

Mr. Keate indicated a great future for Canada, with a review of natural resources available and current moves to put them to use. He emphasized a trend by industrial development toward the western regions of the country, and the Pacific Coast area.

Children's hair can be so stubborn. Its texture is so different from yours! And now at last here's a home permanent that's specially created for limp, less elastic, harder-to-wave hair. It includes specially formulated Children's Creme Waving Lotion, Liquid Neutralizer Lotion plus the Special Children's Home Permanent Conditioner... all completely different from the preparations in a regular home permanent and designed to make young hair "take" a wave better... leave the hair soft, lustrous and manageable... like naturally curly hair. All the ingredients in this new Richard Hudnut Children's Home Permanent have been laboratory-tested and salon-tested so you can be sure it's safe and gentle for your child's hair. Use any plastic curlers... but we especially recommend the new Richard Hudnut Whirl-A-Wave curlers for ease, speed, and smoother waves.

SENATOR SEES MASS A-BOMB PRODUCTION

Thinks Atomic Bottleneck Clearances Will Eventually Reduce Cost To Mere $240,000

WASHINGTON (AP)—Can the United States make atomic bombs in abundance and for only $240,000 apiece instead of the present multi-million-dollar cost?

Senator Brien McMahon (Dem., Conn.), top man in Congress on atomic affairs says, yes.

Atomic bottlenecks in materials, production, equipment and design have been broken and the country can turn the weapons out in mass production at a cost less than that of a tank, the senator said in the Senate yesterday.

If, he said, the U.S. will provide this arsenal of atomic arms, there will be fewer foot soldiers needed; fewer old-style artillery pieces and more guided missiles with atomic warheads; fewer flame throwers and more radiological warfare; planes and submarines and aircraft carriers given unlimited range by atomic engines; ships firing guided missiles with atomic explosives and torpedoes which uncannily hunt down enemy ships.

Within an hour after McMahon spoke, military leaders had copies of the text under close scrutiny. Did it mean the army or the navy or the air force or all of them would be smaller? (McMahon put strong emphasis on cutting national defense cost).

McMahon estimates it will take three years to get into mass production of atomic bombs. Other weapons may take much longer.

The last great revolution in firepower was the invention of gunpowder. But hundreds of years later the spear, made obsolete by the bullet, still exists in the form of the bayonet.

McMahon estimates it will take three years to get into mass production of atomic bombs. Other weapons may take much longer.

OVERSEAS FORCES IN BRITISH SECTOR

Army To Continue Traditional Linkings
Despite Switch To U.S. Arms, Equipment

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada apparently is to continue its traditional military association with Britain, despite the army's switch to U.S. arms.

This was implied in a government announcement Tuesday night that the army has been authorized to prepare the 27th Brigade for movement in November to the British sector of Germany.

However, at the same time it was announced that Canada's air division will be grouped with United States forces when it gets to Europe.

Both the R.C.A.F. squadrons and the army brigade will be in Gen. Eisenhower's integrated Atlantic Pact force.

Defense Minister Claxton issued a statement after a meeting of Atlantic Pact defense ministers announcing the impending moves.

The first of 11 Sabre jet fighter squadrons for the air division would leave for England "within a few weeks."

He said three R.C.A.F. squadrons will be going to England with the Sabres to form the first wing of the division. They would remain in the U.K. "until facilities are available on the continent."

"There it is expected they will begin by being grouped with the U.S. forces. Because much of the equipment is of the same type as that of the U.S.A.F., the R.C.A.F. squadrons will use to a considerable extent the U.S.A.F. supply organization."

EISENHOWER PLEASED

Mr. Claxton said Gen. Eisenhower has expressed "deep satisfaction" that the Canadian Government will seek Parliament's approval in October for movement of the 27th Brigade—with 6,500 men under Brig. Geoffrey Walsh—to Europe in November.

"He was of the opinion that the brigade should be deployed in the northern army sector in association with the United Kingdom, Netherlands and Belgian forces and where suitable accommodation and training areas could be made available."

The U.K. War Office had promised co-operation in carrying out this arrangement.

This indicated the brigade will continue Canada's traditional association with the British. It had been thought in some quarters that the army's switch to U.S. arms would end the association.

The placing of the air division under U.S. command represents a major change from the system of the Second World War, when R.C.A.F. squadrons came under the overall command of the R.A.F.

Sense Of Moral Values Said Lacking In U's

SASKATOON (CP)—Dr. W. P. Thompson, president of the University of Saskatchewan, said yesterday that Canadian universities are neglecting moral values.

He said in an address to the convention of the Canadian Education Association here that in education a sense of moral values is at least as important as knowledge or intelligence. Canadian universities, and universities generally, were not accepting that responsibility.

Dr. Thompson said the Second World War had emphasized the importance of moral values. The presiding judge at the Nuremberg war trials had said that modern society feared, only the educated man. Primitive peoples constituted no menace.

Germany was one of the best educated nations. Her universities attracted many of the best graduate students from other countries.

FIRST BY NAZIS

"Yet it was Germany which harbored a Dachau and a Buchenwald," Dr. Thompson said. German universities had to take the responsibility for that situation for they were among the first things to be taken over by the Nazis.

Russia also had made great educational strides at all levels, but her educational advance did not seem to be accompanied by an improvement in ethical ideals.

In opening the convention, the association president, Dr. M. E. Lazerte, of Edmonton, forecast an expansion of research in the administration of large rural school units.

He said provincial departments of education with larger units are meeting new problems not only of finance and pupil transportation, but relating to curricula, in-service training of teachers, supervision and educational leadership.

EXHILARATED DOORMAN JOYRIDES BUT FOOT TOO HEAVY FOR FUN

The doorman of a city hotel felt just like one of the guests for a moment or two Monday... but a heavy foot on the accelerator was his undoing.

Arthur P. Impey, 1748 Davie Street, appeared in city police court Tuesday and pleaded guilty to taking a car without the owner's consent and driving without a 1951 driver's license.

Constable William Knowles testified that the accused had been handed the keys to the car by Edith M. Weeks, a visitor from Utah, and had set off on a joyride.

Impey was remanded to Friday for sentence.

Auctions are fun...but lost parcels aren't funny!

A lady you never heard of just bought the lovely tea set you mailed to Aunt Sophie last year. Not much fun for you in that, but nice for the lady who got it for half what you paid for it.

The gift didn't reach Aunt Sophie because the Post Office just couldn't read the address on the package, or the wrapper came off because the package wasn't tied securely. The Post Office couldn't return the gift to you because there was no return address on, or inside the parcel.

Along with 6,000,000 other letters, circulars and packages—toys, wearing apparel, surveying instruments and even a horse collar—the tea set went to the Dead Letter Office, Canada's largest lost and found department. Experts couldn't figure out where the package was to go.

The package was stored for a year, but no one enquired about it. With thousands of others it was catalogued and sold at auction. That's when the lady you never heard of legally bought Aunt Sophie's tea set.

Rita's Two Children Faced Kidnap Threat In Nevada

RENO, Nev. (UP)—Official Reno sources disclosed today that actress Rita Hayworth was advised to hire armed guards at her Glenbrook, Nev., hideaway last June when "four known hoodlums" checked in at a nearby resort.

Authorities warned the actress they feared a kidnap threat against her children, Rebecca, 6, and Yasmin, then 17 months old.

At the time, Miss Hayworth was said to be demanding a $300,000 settlement from Yasmin's father, Prince Aly Khan.

"That amount would make any hoodlum interested in pulling a snatch," officials said.

Two of the hoodlums were said to be from Miami and two from Chicago. They checked out and left as soon as Miss Hayworth had guards patrol the grounds of her Lake Tahoe home for 24 hours a day and the kidnap threat was publicized.

Earl, Countess Of Derby Due Here Shortly

The Earl and Countess of Derby, who arrived in Montreal Monday to begin a visit to western Canada, will include Victoria in their itinerary, it was announced Tuesday by the office of Premier Johnson. Dates for the visit here have not been confirmed as yet, however.

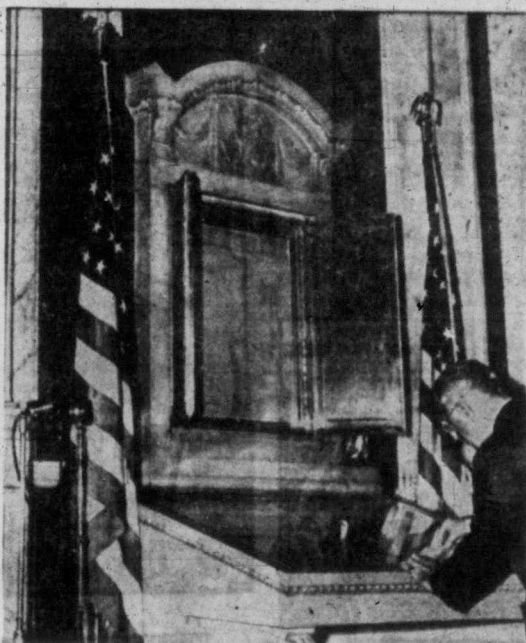

They arrived in Canada aboard the Canadian Pacific Liner Empress of Canada.

When they are in Vancouver the Earl and Countess of Derby will be honored guests at a luncheon at Stanley Park Pavilion. The Earl is a nephew of Lord Stanley, for whom Stanley Park was named.

Described as the "richest man in Britain," 32-year-old Lord Derby is believed to be combining business and pleasure trips. During his visit to Canada he will spend some time in several oil-producing centres.

The Earl and Countess, the former Isabel Milles-Lade, were married in 1949 at Westminster Abbey. The occasion was one of the most brilliant postwar social functions seen in Britain.

Prints By Western Artists Make Strong, Bold Show

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

There is a special fascination about prints, whether from wood or lino block, lithograph or silk-screen. It evolves from the characteristic texture, necessary absence of trivial detail and clean, sensitive outline.

The Arts Centre on Broughton Street, has a display this week of 20 lithographs and 34 silk-screen prints, the work of western Canadian artists.

The black-and-white lithographs grouped under the title "Agean Notebook" and are the sharply individualistic products of Medicine Hat-born Roloff Beny. Mr. Beny has exhibited in all parts of the world and has paintings in the National Gallery, Toronto Art Gallery, Brooklyn Museum and other places.

These are strong, bold and free, remarkable in design, form and balance. The style and technique seems especially well adapted to the antiquity of the subject. "Fragment of Frieze—Parthenon," "Mutilation in the Museum—Athens," and others, breathe strongly of the ancient world.

As a contrast to the aesthetic Beny lithographs, the silk-screen prints bloom on the opposite wall in a full range of the richest colors and at the same time, the most subtle tones imaginable. Even a slight insight into the complicated process by which these prints are produced makes one marvel at the skill and patience which have rendered such collector's items as Gordon Sinclair's "Prairie Village"; Miriam Bowman's "Princess Tree, Spelman" and the deep, haunting beauty of "Silver Star Mountain, Vernon."

To Be Or Not To Be Is Cry Of Irked Adolphe Menjou

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Adolphe Menjou refused to shave off his waxed mustache for a movie role Monday—and Marie Wilson could not have raised more commotion if someone had burned up all her sweaters.

The usually affable star flipped his lip—and loud—when Producer Stanley Kramer ordered him to scrape off the lip fuzz for "The Sniper."

"I will not," he said. "This is the Menjou trademark. Without it I would feel naked and non-descript."

Kramer, also usually affable, said the actor had better see a barber—or else.

Menjou was so furious the curled ends of the object under fire bristled.

"I've had this mustache for 40 years—ever since I was 21," he said. "I've nurtured it and cared for it and trained it. Asking me to shave it off now is like asking an actor to cut off a leg to play a peg-legged sailor."

Menjou allowed he could play the part of a detective just as well with a mustache as without. Kramer said he couldn't because it'd make him too conspicuous to be a plausible detective.

"They can't make me," Menjou said. "It's not in my contract." Kramer said it is, too, in the contract... in a manner of speaking.

"We take it as a matter of routine that any actor we sign meets every requirement of make-up or wardrobe the role calls for," he declared.

"Shaving off Menjou's mustache comes under this heading. We consider it an absolute re-

C.C.L. Launches Fresh Drive For Price Control

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Congress of Labor, Canada's second biggest union body, was launched today on a new drive for price controls.

The 350,000-member congress decided Tuesday to push for controls, a rollback of prices, an excess-profits tax and consumer-goods subsidies.

In these objectives, it was looking for joint action with the 500,000-member Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, though there appeared considerable doubt as to how far the T.L.C. was prepared to go in co-operation with the C.C.L.

The bigger congress voted on its Halifax convention last week to cut down on the extent of its co-operation with the C.C.L. and other central labor bodies but Tuesday the C.C.L. leadership said it is still hopeful of closing that breach and going even further towards labor unity.

DELEGATE EVICTED

In a sometimes-uproarious session, the C.C.L. saw the temporary eviction from the floor of one of its delegates, the first time this has occurred in several years.

Getting the bounce was hefty Jimmy Speal of local 200 of the United Automobile Workers of America at Windsor, one of a handful of left-wingers who have slipped into the big U.A.W. delegation. Speal was escorted out of the meeting hall for too-sharp heckling of Jack Taylor, his own local president, while Taylor was making a speech on aid to south-east Asia.

After an uproar over Speal's eviction cooled down, the congress adopted a resolution supporting the idea of aid to south-east Asia.

Another demand of the congress was for relaxation of the federal government's credit restrictions. A resolution adopted by the delegates said they have resulted in unemployment in automobile plants, the needle trades, furniture-making and other industries.

The ankle is the most commonly sprained joint because of the rigidity of its lateral ligaments.

PEER TAKES PAYING GUESTS

NEWMARKET, ON. (FERGUS, Ireland (Reuters))—Lord Inchiquin, descendant of the Irish kings, is taking in boarders to keep out of the red.

The 54-year-old peer can no longer maintain his vast County Clare ancestral home without help.

He has already sold his Stradivarius violin for £2,700 and a 2,000-acre estate in Shropshire, Eng.

"So now I take in paying guests. I do not run a hotel but the guests, who live here in a permanent house party, mean that I can keep up my family home," he said today.

Amalgamate, Hope For Club Support

A merger of the Lions Own Senior Scout Troop of Victoria, and the 3rd Victoria Scout Troop and Wolf Cub pack was approved Monday at a joint meeting of the group committees of the two units.

The Lions Club of Victoria is being invited to undertake the sponsorship of the new organization, and if this is acceptable the title of the new group will be Victoria Lions Own.

A committee was appointed to make plans for the new organization and a further meeting will be held Tuesday, Sept. 25. All parents of Scouts and Cubs in the two units, as well as any others interested in the promotion of scouting in the central city district, are asked to attend.

BUSINESSMEN VISIT

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Ready to Go

The liver should pour out about 2 pints of bile juice into your digestive tract every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the digestive tract. Then gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

It takes those cold, gentle Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 35¢ at any drugstore.
